State BJP Meet amidst turmoil tomorrow

State BJP General Secretary Aravinda Limbavali, District President M. Shivanna, BJP National Council Member B.P. Manjunath and others overseeing arrangements for State BJP Executive Meeting at Rajendra Kalamandira this morning.

Mysuru, May 5 (MTY&BCT)- The stage is set for the two-day State BJP Executive Committee meeting that will begin in city from tomorrow at a time when the party is facing an internal rebellion led by the two factions, one led by State BJP President B.S. Yeddyurappa and the other led by Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council K.S. Eshwarappa.

Rajendra Kalamandira on the Ramanuja Road at Agrahara, the venue of the meeting, has been decked up and the areas surrounding the venue are dominated by saffron banners, flags, posters and buntings. Huge arches have been set up to welcome over 669 delegates.

Seven-hundred chairs have been put inside the hall and a giant pendal has been erected outside for the delegates to assemble. Food counters are being set up and there will be a separate book counter where books and other literature of the party will be displayed and sold.

More than 350 rooms have been booked at various hotels in city to accommodate delegates. About 400 volunteers have been appointed to ensure that the event goes off smoothly.

Today morning, State BJP General Secretary Aravinda Limbavali, District President M. Shivanna, City BJP President Dr. B.H. Manjunath, BJP National Council Member B.P. Manjunath and other local party leaders visited the venue to oversee the arrangements. They said that Yeddyurappa will arrive at the venue this afternoon.

Nirbhaya case: SC upholds death sentence

New Delhi, May 5- Nearly five years after Nirbhaya, a 23-year-old medical student was gang-raped on Dec. 16, 2012 in Delhi, the Supreme Court this afternoon upheld death sentence to four convicts. The Delhi High Court had awarded death to Akshay Thakur, Vinay Sharma, Pawan Gupta and Mukesh who challenged it in the Supreme Court.

One among the rapists was a minor who was set free after he was sent to a correction home.

Poor citizen feedback cost us clean city award: Mayor

Mayor M.J. Ravikumar and MCC Health Standing Committee Chairman Mahadevappa displaying the trophy and the certificate respectively as MCC Commissioner G. Jagadesha looks on.

Mysuru, May 5 (RK&NNN)- "There were two main reasons for us to lose the cleanest city tag this time and they were the poor response of the citizens feedback and lagging behind in construction of toilets," said Mayor M.J. Ravikumar.

Addressing the media here, after arriving from New Delhi early in the morning, at the old Council Hall in the Mysuru City Corporation, he said, last time there were only 73 cities with a population of ten lakh that were vying for the cleanest city tag. However, this time there were 436 cities with some having even a population of one lakh who were in contention and hence the competition had become that much tougher.

Displaying the trophy (with the statue of Mahatma Gandhi and two kids) and the certificate, Ravikumar pointed out that while last year the MCC had secured 1749 points, this time it had got 1743.36 points and the difference was just five marks. "Our documentation was really good as we scored 833.37 points out of 900 (93 percent). In the spot observation when the Swachh Survekshan team had come we really did well and are placed second in the country," he said.

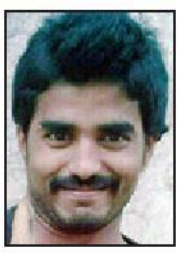
Bus conductor commits suicide just a day after his marriage

He was engaged to marry another woman at his native place on May 8



Nadaiah Matapathi

Mysuru, May 5 (RK&BCT)- A bus conductor who married a woman from Paduvarahalli in city committed suicide yesterday morning, just a day after his marriage. While he tied the knot with the woman from Paduvarahalli, he did not tell her that he was supposed to get married to another woman on May 8 at Ranebennur, his native place.

According to the Police and family members, 30-year-old Nadaiah Matapathi, son of Veeranna Matapathi, was a resident of Ranebennur in Haveri District. He was working as a conductor in the Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) and fell in love with Kavyashree, a resident of Paduvarahalli in Mysuru.

Family members said that Kavyashree had gone to Bengaluru sometime back and took the BMTC bus that was driven by Nadaiah. They had a steady affair for months and used to meet frequently though Kavyashree's parents opposed their relationship. The duo, however, decided to get married and accordingly, on May 3, Nadaiah came to Mysuru and both secretly tied the knot at a temple in Vontikoppal.

The same day they went to Mysuru South Sub-Registrar's Office at Ramakrishnanagar and got their marriage registered. Since Kavyashree's parents opposed the marriage, they went to the house of one Naveen, a friend of Kavyashree, at Navodaya Layout in Vidyaranyapuram and stayed there.

Doing the right things, Doing things rightly

Role of citizens in ensuring the much-desired good governance doesn't seem to have been either recognised or appreciated, far less accepted by the citizenry, unarguably the sole beneficiary of that task exclusively loaded on the government of the day. On their part, successive governments, including the incumbent Union Government, present custodian of a 33-party coalition, in tandem with the governments of the 36 States and Union Territories, have adopted on their own volition the practice of introducing Acts, framing Rules, amending various Clauses of the nation's Constitution and resorting to Ordinances expecting the citizens to fall in line. However, the dismal extent to which these tools of governance are being effectively put to use and , more importantly, the all-too-familiar ethos of the land's masses, barring a minor exception, in no frame of mind to comply with the laws have separately and together brought the country to a state that doesn't need to be elaborated.

Historians should be able to testify how the rulers and their governments in different regions of the land and at different periods of the past provided good governance amidst turbulent times and fighting wars, marked by a minimum framework of laws, ostensibly people-friendly.

Chroniclers portraying the face of governance in the erstwhile Princely State of Mysore and also many other regions of the land under monarchy in pre-independence eras do mention the respect that mentors (such as the legendary D.V. Gundappa) commanded and their stellar role in providing administrations that people had limited scope to complain about. The punch line of the mentors in society, their names now resting in the pages of the land's history, including that of Karnataka, can be appropriately stated as: "Doing right things and doing things rightly." The top brass in every government, at different levels from Gram Panchayat to the Union Government owe it to themselves and to the land's people to come out in the open with an unambiguous and regular report on the things done with public funds for people to judge the extent that the administration is adrift in meeting citizen's expectations.

Without passing a verdict through this column on the claims of the incumbent Karnataka government as well as the Union government about having done both the right things and also done things rightly, one is prompted to conclude that the land's people at large have the duty and responsibility to play their proactive role to enjoy good governance.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Freud famously said, "In the last resort we must begin to love in order not to fall ill, and we are bound to fall ill if... we are unable to love." Love is an essential human instinct that keeps us sane. It transcends all artificial categories of caste, class, religion, race or ethnicity. Our popular culture celebrates violence, but frowns on any expression of love. Love was never much of a factor in traditional marriages, primarily because of endogamy and the mandated age difference between men and women. Sex in marriage is to fulfil the duty of procreation, it should not be confused with love. — Padmaja Shaw in The New Indian Express.

Furry felines stroll on baby stroller

Tokyo: Taking nine pet cats on daily strolls through the city is kind of unusual, but having them sit in a baby stroller while you're pushing them around is bound to catch some eyeballs. So it's no surprise that the Cat Man of Kyushu attracts attention wherever he goes.

Masahiko Suga, a 55-year-old retired electronics company worker, first made headlines back in 2014, when photos of him walking nine beautiful cats in a baby stroller went viral. But while he achieved fame walking his cats in Tokyo, Masahiko Suga is actually known as the Cat Man of Kyushu, as he hails from the city of Kagoshima. That's where he adopted his first cat in 1999, followed by eight other siblings, and where he started parading them in a stroller. Paw Mane Fin claims that Suga came up with this unusual ritual as a way to calm his cats, who were wreaking havoc in his home soon after he adopted them. So he thought a bit of fresh air might do them good. He swears that the daily stroll cured the cats of their boredom.

Wedding drama

Xi'an: The groom, known only by his surname, Wang, and his fiancée, Xiaoli, were supposed to tie the knot on April 30, during a big wedding banquet at a hotel in Xian, China's Shaanxi Province. Everything was going according to plan up to the point when the family of the bride noticed that half of the tables reserved for the groom's guests laid empty. With the banquet well underway and Wang's parents nowhere to be found, the 27-year-old bride became convinced that he was lying, so she called the Police. When they started asking the groom's guests questions, some of them admitted that they had never met him before. They had been contacted by Wang on social media platform & offered 80 yuan ($12) to attend the wedding as his friends and relatives. The wedding drama soon went viral on Chinese social media and was picked up by the BBC, who mentioned that Wang had been arrested following his charade, but it's not a criminal offense anywhere in the world.

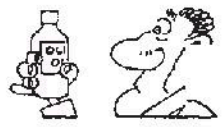
What is fake Olive oil made of?



The profits of marketing fake Olive oil have been compared to those of cocaine trafficking. A UC Davis study revealed that some Olive oil isn't Olive oil at all, but a diluted combination of Soy and Canola oil. The study also revealed that almost 70% of Olive oil marketed as extra virgin wasn't extra virgin at all.

VOICE OF THE READER

Erudite scholar and a role model

Sir,

Dr. S. Dandapani (who passed away in Bengaluru on Apr. 18) was a great teacher, inspiring mentor and a role model for a whole generation of top teachers produced by Regional College of Education (RCE), Mysuru. As a young man in late sixties, he used to be the first man in the morning to arrive at RCE on a Java motorcycle (250 cc). As a classroom teacher of Educational Psychology, he revealed not only his erudition but also his sensitising, understanding of young students.

His letters/articles in SOM and other journals were examples of brevity, wit, scholarship peppered by his wisdom. As a professor he has left for posterity a definitive book on Educational Psychology. He never left the smallest opportunity to inspire his students to pursue higher studies and research.

To conclude, I must say that in his own life he exemplified what he preached as a guru — a teacher must intensely cultivate an unquenchable yearning for learning. The last three words are an extract from a title of one of his articles in the Education column of The Hindu. Mysuru is now poorer with the loss of another Mahamahopadhyaya.

Police transfers: CM, 27 Ministers in the dock

Bengaluru, May 5 - Akhila Karnataka Police Mahasabha President and social activist V. Shashidhar has filed a complaint yesterday with the Lokayukta seeking a probe into the alleged interference of elected representatives including Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, 27 Ministers, MLAs/MLCs and MPs in the transfer of Police officers.

He alleged that the CM, his Cabinet members were gaining directly or indirectly by transferring Police officials to particular Police Stations/ Circles/ Sub-Divisions. The transfers are illegal, contrary to the Karnataka Police Act and also against the guidelines issued by the Supreme Court, he said.

Siddharamaiah

Shashidhar

Shashidhar alleged that the CM's and his Minister's 'transfer minutes' overrode Police Establishment Board (PEB) – which was exclusively set up to transfer Police officers.

"This is giving way to an unholy Police-Politician nexus, which could either be to accrue benefits or lead to forging of an unholy relationship – both of which are equally dangerous to the society," Shashidhar said. The complaint comes after the High Court in January disposed off his writ petition, keeping open the option to move the Lokayukta.

Shashidhar has submitted 167 minutes/ recommendation letters issued by the Chief Minister and his 27 Cabinet colleagues between 2014 and 2016. These minutes also name certain Police officials.

In his complaint to Upa Lokayukta Justice Subhash B. Adi, he has sought that the Director General & Inspector General of Police be made witness in the case.

Shashidhar has been pursuing the issue of political interference in Police transfers by making the PEB a defunct entity.

"I was able to obtain letters of recommendations given by politicians seeking transfer of Police officers to their respective places and the Chief Minister obliged the requests. Such Police officers who are under the mercy of politicians do not carry out proper investigation and protect their political bosses," he alleged.

He had earlier filed a complaint with the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) on May 18, 2016, on these illegal transfers carried as per the whims and fancies of the politicians. However, the ACB closed this on November 21, 2016 stating lack of prima facie evidence and that the Police transfers were administrative issues. Shashidhar had then moved the High Court, which had disposed off the petition on February 1, 2017.

With the High Court keeping an option open for him to move the Lokayukta, Shashidhar did that yesterday. A complaint has now been registered by the Lokayukta.

Efforts on to convince Vishwanath not to leave Congress

MLC H.M. Revanna, MLA Varthur Prakash attend a marriage; meet former MP

Mysuru, May 5 (SBD&BCT)- Days after Chamarajanagar Member of Parliament R. Dhruvanarayan met Congress leader and former MP A.H. Vishwanath asking him not to leave the party, MLC H.M. Revanna and MLA Varthur Prakash met Vishwanath and held talks here yesterday.

Party sources said that since Vishwanath has been openly criticising Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, his joining JD(S) was imminent and the meeting was another attempt to convince Vishwanath not to leave the party. It may be recalled here that MP Dhruvanarayana had called on Vishwanath at his residence in K.R. Nagar on May 2.

Revanna, Varthur Prakash and Vishwanath were closeted in the Government Guest House for over 30 minutes. According to sources, the latest rounds of talks have been held as per Siddharamaiah's directions.

MLC H.M. Revanna (extreme right) and MLA Varthur Prakash who met former MP A.H. Vishwanath are seen speaking to the media in the Government Guest House premises in Nazarbad here yesterday.

The leaders, however, denied that the talks were held at the behest of Siddharamaiah. "We had come to Mysuru for a wedding and we have come to meet Vishwanath in our personal capacity," Revanna and Prakash said. Even Vishwanath denied that the leaders had met him as directed by the CM.

Sources said that when Revanna and Prakash saw Vishwanath, they asked him not to leave Congress.

Stopping them at the middle of their conversation, Vishwanath reportedly said, "You have come to a wedding and let us speak about the ceremony and not other issues."

Revanna even told that CM had no issues with him. "Siddharamaiah has no problems with you and I can telephone him and connect him to you," he reportedly said.

Vishwanath then told Revanna according to sources, "I am not in a position to speak to him even if you call. If I had to talk to him, I would call him myself. If CM wants to speak to me let him call."

Later, speaking to reporters, Revanna and Prakash expressed confidence that Vishwanath will not leave Congress and join JD(S).

"Kurubas will never join JD(S). Vishwanath will get suitable position in the Congress," Prakash said.

D.K. Shivakumar to be KPCC President?

Bengaluru, May 5- Even as hectic lobbying has begun for KPCC President's post, Energy Minister D.K. Shivakumar seems to be the front runner for the post with AICC Vice-President Rahul Gandhi keen to nominate him for the post according to top sources.

Shivakumar

Realising Rahul Gandhi's backing for him, D.K. Shivakumar, who was on a foreign tour, has rushed back to New Delhi and met top Congress leaders seeking their support. Shivakumar is also very much aware of the fact that some in the Congress are opposing him for the post.

Speaking to press persons here yesterday, Shivakumar said that his market value would rise if some in the Congress oppose his name for the KPCC President's post. He however said he will abide by whatever decision the Congress high command takes in respect of KPCC.

New KPCC President in two weeks: Kharge

Bengaluru, May 5 (KMS&DM)- Congress Parliamentary leader in the Lok Sabha Mallikarjuna Kharge has said that a new KPCC President will be appointed in two weeks.

Kharge

In his first public statement on party matters in recent times, Kharge said the new KPCC President to replace Dr. G. Parameshwara will be announced shortly. AICC President Sonia Gandhi has discussed the matter with AICC Vice-President Rahul Gandhi and the new appointee will be the one who has strong organisational skills, he said.

Meanwhile, activities have gained momentum in the Congress after K.C. Venugopal was appointed as the new party in-charge of Karnataka recently.

Although several leaders such as D. K. Shivakumar, M.B. Patil, S.R. Patil, K.H. Muniyappa and Appaji Nadagouda had started lobbying for the post since the past couple of months, the AICC leadership was silent on the issue.

But the appointment of Venugopal as the new party in-charge of Karnataka in place of Digvijay Singh has stirred a flurry of activities in the Congress, which is gearing up for the 2018 Assembly Polls.

How about waging a War on War itself?

Although most people may disagree with me, I cannot help feeling that Benjamin Franklin, the most distinguished scientific and literary American of his time and one of the founding fathers of America very rightly said that "There never was a good war or a bad peace." He said this in a letter dated July 27, 1783 which he wrote to Joseph Banks, the President of the Royal Society, himself one of the best known scientists of the world who once sailed with Captain Cook during his exploration of the south seas. Incidentally, he was also the first white man to ever set foot upon New Zealand.

Franklin wrote this letter at the time of the impending end of the long revolutionary American war of independence from Britain. If he had this to say about wars at a time when his people were fighting their most important war and it was becoming increasingly clear that the Americans were winning it you can imagine how much he hated armed conflict.

Waging a war even if we are forcibly drawn into one much against our wishes is indeed an ugly business. It is a different matter that wars mean very good business to all those who are in the business of producing and peddling arms and all other kinds of defence equipment. This is especially so because when it comes to acquiring armaments no price is too high a price as you need to have the best that is available if you have to emerge victorious. And, who would like to lose a war?

Very recently we read about the very ugly turn that our long drawn confrontation with Pakistan has taken with two of our soldiers having been subjected to much brutality even after having been shot dead. Close upon the heels of this very despicable incident we read the news about forty seven school children from Pakistan who had just arrived in Delhi on a student exchange programme having being sent back. The reason cited for this action is that considering the heightened tension on the border at present, the atmosphere is not conducive to such exchanges.

But I feel that this was a rather hasty and knee jerk-like response. This decision seems to have been taken rather hastily by some middle order bureaucrats without our high-level think tanks and Statesmen having had a chance to apply their minds to the situation calmly. Instead of packing them off abruptly if we had allowed those children to complete their stay and absorb whatever experience they were meant to, we would certainly have emerged as a nation with unusually abundant goodwill in the eyes of the rest of the world. Whether we would have made a good and attitude-changing impression or not on Pakistan itself is immaterial. It is also very unlikely going by our experience in the past with many other such goodwill moves.

By reacting in the way we did we have lost an excellent opportunity that we could have utilised to show to the world that our goodwill and desire to have cordial bilateral relations with our rather belligerent neighbour are very genuine and sincere. There was certainly no need for us to make little children the pawns in this game of chess that has been forced upon us by some unfortunate circumstances. And, because the children came as our guests we could have shown them and their parents the true meaning of 'Athithi Devo Bahavo' the most important component of the Indian philosophy of love and brotherhood.

Shutting our doors on the face of a guest, invited or uninvited, welcome or unwelcome has never been our forte. All our sages have taught us tolerance over the centuries and Indian history is replete with examples of how our kings and queens have cast aside hostility and all other baser considerations and embraced even their enemies when they came as their guests. We could and should have emulated them this time too. And, who knows...even if one child from this group had been destined to make it to the echelons of power that guide Pakistan's policies in the days to come, his or her good impression of what Indians are as good human beings, would perhaps have made a difference to how the two nations see one another across the border in the future. Do think about it!

Ending Needless Deaths

I am prompted to write this consequent upon the death of a young girl in a ghastly accident on the way to her college yesterday. She happened to be a friend of my wife's niece and I could see a pall of gloom in her circle of friends. I do not know the cause for the accident or whether she was at fault or not but I routinely see many students driving rather recklessly just to beat the closure of their college gates beyond the stipulated entry time.

It is a fact that many students start from their homes at the last moment in a mad rush which is avoidable with a little planning. It is also an irrefutable fact that many colleges do close their gates and deny entry to late-comers. I have myself seen this practice. This may be an effective way of instilling discipline into students but this has also become a way of subjecting them to much risk if they happen to be using vehicles to reach their colleges.

The seemingly un-obliging security guards at the gates simply quote the rule book and plead helplessness. To prevent students from driving recklessly all college authorities would do well to allow entry even to students who are late and then counsel them about how they should manage their time and urge them to exercise caution while driving. It is good that a few colleges have completely banned use of two-wheelers by their students and made the use of college buses mandatory. Perhaps this should be made the norm at all educational institutions by a rule of law. It will certainly save a lot of misery and pain. Parents too have a very important role in dissuading their children from using two-wheelers and suggesting other safer options although this is easier said than done considering peer pressure.

No internal transfers from now, says Police Commissioner

"We cannot build Police Stations near your houses," says Dr. A S. Rao at Weekly Parade

Dr. A. S. Rao

Mysuru, May 5 (RK&BCT)- In a stern warning to Police Officers and Constables seeking internal transfers, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeshwara Rao has said that he will not encourage inter-departmental transfer requests. "Teams and personnel are expected to work where they are posted and I will take action against those who come to me with transfer requests," he said.

Addressing the Weekly Parade of Police Officers at the City Armed Reserve Grounds here this morning, the city's top cop said that he often receives such inter-department transfer requests.

"Officers want to shift from Law and Order to Traffic Department, CCB to Traffic, Traffic to Civil Police Department and vice-versa. They cite various excuses like transfer will help them move closer home. You all must work at the place of posting as we cannot build Police Stations near your house," he said.

The Weekly Parade began at 6.30 am and went on till 8.30 am and the Commissioner spoke about various aspects of law and order and crime prevention. He asked his Officers to summon all the rowdy-sheeters in their jurisdiction and make them write an undertaking that they would not indulge in anti-social activities. "Once they write the bond, track their activities and make them responsible if there is a law and order issue or if there is any criminal activities," he told the Officers.

"Include budding rowdies in the rowdy-sheeter list and take action as per law. Warn them that they should not indulge in usury, eve-teasing, real estate dealings, money extortion and other illegal activities," he said and added that after a break, the city was witnessing a spate of chain-snatching. "This is because of your laxity," he opined.

On crime detection, the Police Commissioner said that the detection rate was coming down drastically. "This has been noted by the DG & IGP R. K. Dutta when he came to Mysuru last week. He has given a target to clear pending cases and we are bound by it," he said.

DCP (Law and Order) Dr. H.T. Shekar, DCP (Crime) N. Rudramuni, CAR DCP B.V. Kittur, all the ACPs, Inspectors and ASIs were present.

MCC withdraws Minister's Special Officer's car

Mysuru, May 5 (VNS&RK) - The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) today withdrew the car provided to KAS Officer and District In-charge Minister's Special Officer Shobha.

The facility was withdrawn following orders from MCC Commissioner G. Jagadeesha. According to sources, MCC used to spend Rs. 28,000 on the officer's car rental.

Ever since the car rental scam in MCC came to light recently, it was found that the elected representatives had been misusing the facility despite there being no provision in the law to provide them cars.

This scam came to light when Nandeesh Preetham, Chairman, Standing Committee on Town Planning and Improvement, told reporters that MCC was paying crores of rupees as car rentals.

However, MCC is yet to withdraw the car facility provided to Opposition Leader, Chairmen and Chairperson of other Standing Committees and few officials.

Yesterday morning, Nadaiah hanged himself with his dhoti inside the room they stayed. Seeing her husband's body hanging from a ceiling fan, Kavyashree screamed for help and by the time Naveen and others rushed to the room, Nadaiah was dead. In her statement, Kavyashree told the Police that Nadaiah took the extreme step when she went to the wash-room in the morning. Later, the body was shifted to MMC&RI mortuary for post-mortem.

Hearing the news of their son's suicide, Nadaiah's parents rushed to Mysuru. They told the Police that he was engaged to marry a woman from Ranebennur on May 8, 2017.

They said that invitation cards had already been printed and distributed. Even Nadaiah had taken 200 cards to be distributed among his friends. The parents were shocked to hear about Nadaiah's marriage to Kavyashree.

Poor citizen feedback cost us: Mayor

In the survey of the city, out of 500 points earmarked, Mysuru scored 460.25 (92.05 pc). Where the city really lagged is in the construction of the toilets. The aim was to construct 425 individual toilets and because a follow up was not done by the earlier officials we could not meet the target, said Ravikumar.

The other drawback was in the Swachhata App wherein at least 30,000 citizens should have downloaded the app only 2,000 responded with the feedback. There were technical reasons for this and this matter was brought to the notice of the Ministry of Urban Development, he said.

However, sounding a note of optimism, Ravikumar said that a detailed project report of Rs. 55 crore to set up a 200 metric ton waste management plant in Rayanakere, another 150 metric ton plant in Kesare has been prepared which will be submitted to the State Government. Once these two plants come up then the pressure on the plant in Vidyaranyapuram will ease, he said and added that there were also plans to introduce a scientifically designed bioremediation waste management process.

He alleged that one of the reasons for Mysuru being relegated to fifth place was because of non-cooperation of the Centre which focused on other Indian cities.

Corporation Commissioner G. Jagadeesha said that if there was a detailed project report done on Swachhata by the earlier team then we could have performed better.

The City needs 500 pourakarmikas who have to work in three shifts to clean the city. Vishakapatnam, which is placed third this time, had been following this system, he added.

Deputy Mayor Rathna Lakshman, MCC Health Standing Committee Chairman Mahadevappa, Finance Committee Chairman K.V. Mallesh and others were present at the media conference.

Strict ban on plastics from tomorrow

Mysuru, May 5 (RK&NNN)- MCC Commissioner G. Jagadeesha has announced that there will be strict ban on the usage of plastic bags and other plastics from tomorrow (May 6).

The traders have been warned that their licences will be cancelled if they are found using the plastic materials which will be confiscated. Even the citizens have to carry their cloth bags to the shops and co-operate with the Corporation authorities so that the ban of plastics could help in the Swachh Bharat campaign and keeping the city clean.

Son of Kodagu leaves his footprint on snow-clad mountains -2

While it is common for Kodagu youth to join the Armed Forces and dedicate their lives for their Nation, ready to make the supreme sacrifice, there are some sons of the soil who have earned name and fame through their service in the Survey Department. One such hero is Kalyatanda B. Appachu, son of late Kalyatanda A. Belliappa. Born on 24.6.1935 in Virajpet town, Kodagu District — when it was a 'C' State — Appachu retired as Superintending Surveyor, Survey of India, after a long, challenging and fruitful innings.

K.B. Appachu

In this interview to Star of Mysore, he shares his experiences in the Indo-China border at a time when India had to face Chinese aggression and lose many precious lives due to the wrong policies of our then leaders. Excerpts.

SOM: Did you face a situation when you had to stay hungry but still work?

Appachu: At NEFA, there was heavy snowfall and the weather was bad, cloudy and raining. As such there was no airdrop of rations for 2-3 months. For survival, I had to approach CRPF and Army units and borrow food. Meanwhile there was Chinese aggression from Longju side. Immediately we started retreating and reached our base camp at Daporijo after 16 days of marching. At night, we used to hear gunshots and early in the morning, the moment we could see footpaths, we used to start marching. Once at Daporijo, people had gathered from all the other outposts for evacuation by air-lifting. The same night, there was a wireless message that Chinese troops will be surrounding Daporijo any moment. All the ladies, children of officials started crying. The Kalinga Dakota aircraft meant for Survey of India personnel landed at Daporijo. Officers approached me and requested me to evacuate ladies, children and aged persons in the sortie meant for us. On seeing their plight, I obliged.

Later I got a message from our headquarters asking me to immediately destroy all the survey records etc. including cash and prevent Chinese from laying their hands on them. I had Rs. 40,000 cash in my trunk and I did not want to burn it. I went inside my tent, packed the bundle of notes in a leather bag, and wrapped it in a blanket and put it in my haversack. With my parent's photo and a few glucose packets, I started off marching towards Jorhat, which took 10 days.

There was nothing to eat. On the way there were a number of burnt down Tusker unit camps. (Tusker units are deployed to make roads in hilly areas). We searched and could get tinned fruit or potatoes. During night I used to have the money bag as my pillow. If anyone had a clue that I was carrying so much money, they would have murdered me for it. The last two days I went to villages and begged for food. Immediately after reaching the base camp at Jorhat, I handed over the Rs. 40,000 to my superior officer (Col. S.R. Kishore). I am proud of this act.

A tribal woman from the hill station at NEFA.

Training in plane - Tabling in foot-hills area in NEFA

SOM: What actually triggered Chinese aggression?

Appachu: We had started off our technical work. From tribals and local officials we came to know that India under the Prime Ministership of Jawaharlal Nehru and V.K. Krishna Menon as Defence Minister (with the ill advice of Mallik) had opened a number of outposts along the McMahon Line in 1961, keeping some soldiers in each outpost. This irritated the Chinese their soldiers simply walked inside our area with Tibetans as guides since they knew the route to NEFA. In the encounter most of the Tibetans died. Gelansiniyak, where I used to camp, was the place the Chinese camped too. And wherever I had chiselled 'SURVEY OF INDIA' on the bark of trees, they wrote something in Chinese language. I feel that it was a wrong decision on the part of Jawaharlal Nehru and we lost many soldiers.

One more incident worth mentioning is that seven of us went to a mountain top north of Taksing in Namkachu Valley. It took us two days to reach the top. I set up my theodolite instrument and started observing the Chinese area and I could find a little bit of smoke and could see Chinese soldiers moving around. I showed it to my men and I made them stand in a line and shouted "Bolo Bharat Mathaaki Jai" and run down the mountain. By evening we reached an outpost and narrated the incident to our Government officials. In turn, they flashed the message to New Delhi and at 8 pm news, we heard that 'Chinese Soldiers were sighted in Namkachu Valley'. I worked for about 8 months in Subansiri Frontier Division successfully. Later on for all the sincere and hardwork, I was awarded a Commendation Certificate by the Governor of Assam.

SOM: What other incidents come to your mind at NEFA?

Appachu: A lot of virgin area near the McMahon Line was unexplored. As such, it was planned to carry out exploratory survey to the north of Anini outpost. Seven technical hands were selected and our officer in-charge Major L.P. Sharma was our team leader. We reached Jorhat and were waiting for the airlift and at that point, Major L.P. Sharma received a message that he was promoted and had to join duty immediately.

He left and Capt. Prithviraj was made the team leader. We collected our squad, ration, etc., and after seven days of marching, we established our base camp at Bruni. We were preparing to start exploratory survey and Capt. Prithviraj received a message saying that he was promoted as a Major and he was asked to report immediately in Shillong. He left and I became the team leader.

I wanted to establish a survey station at an altitude of about16,000 feet. With the help of aerial photographs, I studied the area and with my team scaled the mountains. In some places we used rope climbing also and by evening we reached a small lake and we camped there itself. My Arctic tent was set on a flat boulder. The entire area was full of boulders. The next day 3-4 men and I went to the peak to set our signal (pole and cross) and instrument. It started snowing heavily. So we left the instrument on top and came down to the camp. At night after dinner, I went inside the sleeping bag and porters were sitting by the side of fire. We heard a gunshot and a loud cry of a porter (Angphuri Sherpa). My cook and escort were cleaning the rifle and by mistake one of them pressed the trigger and the bullet pierced through the porter's stomach and the bullet went out from back. He was shouting and crying due to pain. I tried to console him by saying that he would be airlifted the next day. But at night his brother gave him some water and he died.

Next morning on the other side of the lake, we removed a few small boulders and buried him by covering the body with small boulders and performed the last rites. The snowfall continued. I pursued 2-3 best porters to climb up to bring the instrument back from the top. I was reading the abridged Bhagavad Gita for their safe return. They returned safe but snowfall continued and the entire area was covered with snow. There was no ration even as the ration squad could not reach us.

We made a bed by spreading small stones and pebbles and spread grass on top of them and spread the blanket for all of us to sleep. I was putting my hand into a small hot spring throughout the night. We had nothing to eat but took one or two pieces of Muskdeer fried meat and two tea-spoons of glucose each. The next day our Nepali porters with their 'Kokari' (bill hook) tried to cut down pine trees and make it fall across the stream. It was a failure a couple of times, but one tree fell across the stream and got struck between two boulders and it was shaky due to the water flow. It was a 'Do or Die' situation.

As a last resort, we crossed the stream one by one walking over the wobbly log. We walked along a small valley and reached a point from where we could not walk due to darkness. We sat with a blanket by the side of a big boulder and somehow spent the night. Due to severe hunger, I was getting stomach and spinal cord pain. In the morning, I could not stand up due to stiff knees. Immediately, 3-4 good porters encouraged me by saying that I would be lifted to base camp. It was bad luck that our search party with ration could not reach us again. They later came to us and started preparing rice. Two porters massaged my knees continuously for one hour with mustard oil. I could stand up slowly. The rice was cooked and we ate it with some mustard oil. It was so tasty and it was like Godly food. It usually takes two hours for us to reach our base camp but it took six hours for us as I could walk very slowly.

City needs to introspect for top Swachh spot again

Mysuru Mayor M.J. Ravikumar (third from right) and MCC Commissioner G. Jagadeesha (third from left) seen receiving the award (fifth place) from Union Minister for Housing and Urban Poverty Alleviation M. Venkaiah Naidu in New Delhi on May 4. MCC Health Standing Committee Chairman Mahadevappa and others are seen.

Mysuru, May 5 (NNN)- The whole of Mysuru is sulking because it has lost the cleanest city top tag in the country in the Swachh Survekshan 2017. Some people are taking vicarious pleasure because of the city slipping into the fifth place while a few are relieved that it did not score a hat0trick as the city fathers and the bureaucrats would have become more complacent if the top spot was retained.

The post-mortem has begun in right earnest with the Mayor M.J. Ravikumar and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner G. Jagadeesha, who were waiting with bated breath for the announcement of the result in Delhi where they had gone as invitees to receive the top award in anticipation. However, their expectations were belied and they had to be contended with the fifth place.

The reasons for the slide being touted now by Ravikumar is that the MCC failed to complete 406 individual toilets on time, which resulted in loss of precious marks. The Commissioner regretted that the ranking would have been better if the citizens' feedback had been good.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, former Corporation Commissioner Dr. C.G. Betsurmath rightly pointed out that bagging the 5th place is itself no mean achievement and every Mysurean should be proud of this result.

The officials of Indore and Bhopal (which have bagged the first and second place) had come to Mysuru and studied the measures taken by the MCC regarding keeping the city clean. Hence, it clearly shows that Mysuru is a role model that is being followed by other cities in the country, he stated.

We have to introspect where the city is lagging and which are the areas where we scored less marks and set those issues right in the coming days, suggested Dr. Betsurmath during whose time as the Corporation Commissioner, the city had bagged the top place consecutively for two years.

Former Mayor R. Lingappa said that when he was the Mayor and Dr. Betsurmath the Commissioner, the city had bagged the cleanest city ranking. However, we need not lose heart and if we once again work hard, we can regain the top spot.

Mysore Grahakara Parishat Executive Committee member Venkatesh Kharidi said that to regain the top position, it is important that both the citizens and the MCC should join hands. He suggested that Swachhata app should be used daily, litter-free Mysuru should be created, the usage of plastic must be completely stopped, dustbins must be placed at all historic sites, waste segregation must be made mandatory and solid waste management should be improved.

Swachh Bharat Cess

The Swachh Bharat Cess (SBC) came into effect from November, 15, 2015. The SBC at the rate of 0.5 per cent is levied on all taxable services. The proceeds of the SBC will be credited to the Consolidated Fund of India and the Centre will give this money for promoting Swachh Bharat initiatives. The question that is nagging everyone is what is really happening to the money collected as cess as most of the Indian cities are still dirty covered with garbage, Bengaluru being the prime example.

Dr. Malali Vasanthkumar's work released

Mysuru, May 5 (YDS&DM)- Veteran littérateur Dr. C.P. Krishnakumar (CPK) released the revised edition of writer Dr. Malali Vasanthkumar's work titled 'Malali Giddamma' at a programme organised at Maneyangala in Kalamandira premises here recently.

Speaking on the occasion, Dr. CPK said that the book explains a historical significance, as the story revolves around a village deity.

He also pointed that the failure to carry the name of the editor on the cover page, was a major lapse. Book author Dr. Malali Vasanthkumar regretted the lack of encouragement to publishers.

Stating that the State Government which has introduced many Bhagyas should also announce 'Pustaka Bhagya,' he urged the Government to set up libraries in all rural areas of the State in order to impart knowledge to the rural folk.

Declaring that he had set up a library in the name of his father at his native village Malali, Vasanthkumar said he has been maintaining the library out of his pension.

Noting that the establishment of more libraries will largely help the publishers, he urged the Government to come to the aid of publishers.

Vasanthkumar inaugurated new publishing house 'Bhoomigiri Prakashana' on the occasion.

Folk scholar Prof. G.S. Bhatta, social worker K. Raghuram, Janachethana Trust President Prasanna N. Gowda, District Kannada Sahitya Parishat Mysuru President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna, former Presidents M. Pre-implantation Genetic Screening: A Ray of Hope for Childless Couples

Are you in the bracket of advanced maternal age couples? Are repeated miscarriages haunting you? Are multiple failed IVF cycles adding to your anxiety and prolonging your quest for pregnancy? Are you worried about chromosomal abnormalities? If the answer is yes to any of the above queries, you need not be worried anymore as there are new options and treatment procedures that will address each of the above specifically and provides a ray of hope for a successful parenting experience.

Gunasheela Assisted Reproductive Centre, Mysore, a wing of Gunasheela Surgical & Maternity Hospital, Bangalore – a pioneer that has introduced several firsts in the field of Infertility and Gynecology, has launched PGS (Pre-Implantation Genetic Screening) services at its centre, recently. The centre will offer for the first time in India the cutting edge & revolutionary technology of PGS –a procedure designed to examine embryos for chromosomal abnormalities before implantation.

Dr. Devika Gunasheela

The PGS technology is a way of selecting the best embryos which have a higher chance of survival and translating into a healthy pregnancy even before the embryos are transferred into the womb, using the highly sophisticated technology of the Next Generation Sequencing Platform. This procedure goes a long way in reducing the likelihood of miscarriages; decreases the risk of abnormal pregnancies; reduces the amount of time & additional costs incurred with multiple IVF cycles and increase the likelihood of a pregnancy with single embryo transfers (eSET).

Dr. Devika Gunasheela, Managing Director & Fertility Specialist, Gunasheela Hospital, Mysore and Bangalore, said, "PGS is a boon particularly for advanced maternal age couples and families who have had recurrent pregnancy losses both naturally and through IVF. We have achieved a pregnancy through a single frozen embryo transfer after a PGS procedure done within 24 hours. A frozen embryo was thawed, cultured into a blastocyst and then biopsied to do PGS. The PGS was done in a record time of 24 hours in our own in-house lab, the first of its kind in the country. This single embryo was transferred and resulted in a successful pregnancy." For more information, please contact: Gunasheela Reproductive Centre, Kuvempunagar, Mysore. Contact: 0821 – 2343585 or 0821 – 2343385. RCB to play for pride

Bengaluru, May 5- Virat Kohli-led Royal Challengers Bangalore will come up against Kings XI Punjab in Match 43 of IPL 2017 today.

RCB have 5 points from 11 matches and sit at the bottom of the standings. They have no further chances of making the playoffs; even if they were to win their remaining three matches, it will only take them to 11 points, and the top four teams already have in excess of 11 points. The batting line-up, of which much was expected after their exploits last season, has clearly misfired; in their last four matches alone, RCB have lost 37 wickets for a total of 441 runs, or a wicket for every 12 runs. Just because they have not played well so far in the tournament does not mean they cannot play well in the remaining three matches. Sport is a confidence thing; the RCB players will want to get back to winning ways so they feel better and also give their loyal fans a reason to cheer.

Kings XI Punjab, who are coming off a four-day break, will be the hungrier for the two points in this match. KXIP are in the bottom half of the table and have 8 points from nine matches. Prior to the break they demolished the Delhi Daredevils, dismissing them for 67 and cruising to a comprehensive 10-wicket win. Ideally, Glenn Maxwell's side will want to win each of their remaining five matches and qualify for the playoffs on their own – without leaving anything to mathematical calculations or permutations and combinations. KXIP have blown hot and cold; when they've won, they've done so quite convincingly, but they haven't managed to win more than two matches in a row, and the time has now come for them to start piling on a series of wins.

The two most-excitable names in the RCB line-up are Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers. The two players have had a disappointing season. Even if the RCB skipper Kohli hasn't been able to replicate the form of 2016, he has had fairly decent returns, scoring three half-centuries in seven innings. AB de Villiers meanwhile has scored only one half-century in seven innings, and has been dismissed for single-digit scores in three of his last four innings. If RCB hope to compete, they need the duo of Kohli and de Villiers to get big scores.

For Kings XI Punjab, the overseas batsmen will have to do the bulk of the damage with the bat. Hashim Amla has been brilliant with the bat, with scores of 104 not out, 65 and 16 not out in his last three innings. The inclusion of Martin Guptill has meant KXIP now have two in-form batsmen at the top. The captain Glenn Maxwell has had gone off the boil since a solid start the tournament; with the competition for the playoff places becoming intense, KXIP will be well-served if their captain can get back to his destructive run-scoring ways.

With the ball, RCB will want Yuzvendra Chahal and Samuel Badree to bowl their eight overs without conceding too much, while KXIP will look towards Sandeep Sharma to do damage with the ball upfront and hope Axar Patel can keep things tidy in the middle overs.
